Item 4 – Advisory Business

American Financial Management, Ltd. (“AFM”) is a SEC Registered Investment Advisor established in 1983. We provide Asset Allocation Risk Management Services on a discretionary basis.

The firm’s principal owner is Howard Richard Dobson, Sr.

Throughout this brochure, “we” “us” or “our” refers to American Financial Management, Ltd., and “you” or “your” refers to the client or proposed client.

Services consist of a mutual fund/variable annuity contract sub-account conversion management service using mutual fund/variable contract sub-accounts of the client’s choice in consultation with the client’s contact at AFM that may be an AFM investment advisory representative or a third party solicitor to AFM.

American Financial Management, Ltd. provides management services concerning the exchange between mutual fund/variable annuity contract sub-accounts. Management techniques are similar in each of the strategies; however, at their basis, momentum, relative strength, and moving averages are the technical methods used to determine sub-account reallocation choices in all strategies. AFM neither recommends the mutual fund/variable contract group/company or the particular investments involved, nor the sale or redemption of any mutual fund/variable annuity contract shares/units, other than for conversion or advisory fee liquidation as authorized by the client.

The advisory client's personal or individual needs should be determined by the client in consultation with their investment advisory representative or third party solicitor. Each Investment Advisory Agreement contains a confidential client profile, obtained by the investment adviser representative or third party solicitor used for determining the goals, objectives, risk profile, and suitability with their client’s strategy selection. When selecting the strategy, the client agrees to consider personal risk tolerance and financial goals in assessing AFM’s Asset Allocation/Risk Management program and ability to sustain a loss.

Each client’s account in the program is managed on the basis of the client’s financial situation and investment objectives and in accordance with any reasonable restrictions imposed by the client on the management of their account. Clients can place or modify reasonable restrictions on the management of their account. AFM (Adviser) can be reached at 800-798-3553 or client can mail or fax their requests to the Adviser (AFM) at: American Financial Management, Ltd., AFM Plaza 6003 University Avenue, Cedar Falls, IA 50613, 319 277-0798 (fax).

In addition, AFM will at least annually contact clients to see if there are any updates to their financial situation or investment objectives and to determine if the client wishes to impose a new restriction or modify an existing one.

AFM does not participate in wrap fee programs.

As indicated in our ADV Part 1 on file with the SEC, as of January 31, 2018, we manage approximately $63,966,922 in client assets on a discretionary basis. All accounts are managed on a discretionary basis; AFM does not manage non-discretionary accounts.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

All management fees and minimum account sizes are subject to negotiation.

The specific manner in which management fees are charged is established in a client's written investment advisory agreement with American Financial Management, Ltd. Clients choose to be billed directly for management fees or to authorize AFM to directly deduct the management fees from their managed or other accounts. The payment frequency is annual, semi-annual or quarterly and is determined by the client.

The minimum account size is $10,000 per registration. *There are no minimum dollar requirements for strategies utilized for a 401(k) platform.

Standard Fee Schedule:

Asset under Management	Maximum Advisory Fee
$10,000- $250,000	2.50%
Next $250,000	2.25%
Next $250,000	2.00%
Next $250,000	1.75%
Over $1 Million	1.00%

Certain clients who initially hired AFM under a lower fee schedule will continue to receive AFM's management services at the lower initial rates.

In addition, clients may pay varying management fee amounts dependent upon the investment advisory representative or third party solicitor with whom they have contracted at AFM. AFM Investment Advisory Agreements are renewable at the client's discretion.

Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Mutual funds and variable annuities can pay commissions to their investment advisers, and certain funds and variable annuities have other types of fees or charges, including 12b-1, administrative or shareholder servicing fees, early redemption or certain other fees.

Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to AFM's management's fee, and American Financial Management shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

Risk Considerations: The concept of exchanging investments between one mutual fund/variable annuity contract sub-account to another may result in profits and losses and AFM cannot guarantee the results or that the objectives of the Asset Allocation/Risk Management contract will be met. The client may have tax consequences inherent in each such exchange. Market volatility may affect or limit the ability of AFM to exchange between mutual funds/variable contract sub-accounts on a basis that is timely regarding price trends and, as with any investment, especially volatile ones, discretion may be exercised not to switch between mutual funds/variable annuity contract sub-accounts.

Foreign-based investments may include currency exchange rates as additional non-market based considerations. Political stability of countries may also influence, limit or preclude the option to switch between investments. Client agrees to consider personal risk tolerance and financial goals in assessing this Asset Allocation/Risk Management program and ability to sustain a loss. Exchanges between mutual fund/variable annuity contract sub-accounts are not made based upon a client's personal or individual needs and the assessment should be made by the client in consultation with the client's investment advisor representative or third party solicitor.

AFM is affiliated with American Financial Securities, Inc., a registered broker dealer and FINRA member. AFS is used solely to effectuate mutual fund and variable annuity transactions for the personal retail clients of Howard Richard Dobson, Sr., and Howard Richard Dobson, Jr., who are directly affiliated and supervised registered representatives of AFS.

Clients have an option to purchase investment products that AFM's investment adviser representatives or third party solicitors recommend through other broker dealers that are not affiliated with AFS. From effectuating transactions, AFS will retain a portion of the dealer concessions. In addition, these registered representatives of AFS can act as the registered representative for clients in the execution of securities transactions on a normal and customary basis and receive a commission, there under, along with 12b-1 fees.

Report on the Financial Statements

I have audited the accompanying financial statements of American Financial Management, Ltd., which comprise the balance sheets as of January 31, 2018 and 2017, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audits. I conducted my audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, I express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting principles used and the reasonableness of significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

I believe that the audit evidence I have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my opinion.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
January 31, 2018 and 2017

NOTE 1 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Company is an investment advisory firm registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Investment Advisors Act of 1940. The Company provides investment advisory services to individuals, corporations, pension and profit-sharing plans, as well as to other investment advisors in approximately 43 states where they are registered within the continental United States.

Use of Estimates in Preparing Financial Statements – The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statement. Actual results could vary from those estimates.

Allowance for Un-collectible Accounts – Accounts receivable has been adjusted for all known un-collectible accounts. No allowance for bad debts is considered necessary at year-end.

Property and Equipment – The Company provides for depreciation of equipment using annual rates, which are sufficient to amortize the cost of the depreciable assets over their estimated useful lives, generally from 5 to 7 years. The Company uses an accelerated method for computing depreciation. For tax purposes the Company has, in the past, expensed equipment when purchased.

Revenue and Expense Recognition – Investment advisory fees are collected in advance and are recognized ratably over the period specified in each investment advisory agreement. This results in a deferral of a portion of investment advisory income. Management fees are paid to a stockholder (see Note 3) based on a percentage of advisory fee income and are recognized as an expense ratably over the duration of the investment advisory agreements. This results in recognition of a portion of management fees as a prepaid expense, together with the commissions paid to brokers.

Income Taxes – The Company maintains its accounting records on the cash basis for income tax purposes and on the accrual basis for financial statement purposes, resulting in deferred income tax assets and liabilities on the temporary difference in reporting of accounts receivable, prepaid commissions/fees, accounts payable, deferred revenue, the excess of depreciation for tax purposes over the amount for financial statement purposes and deferred tax annuity investment income. Deferred tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance if it is deemed more likely than not that some or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized.

Advertising – The Company expenses advertising costs as they are incurred.
